

Good Living

The last few years have forced many farmers and small town residents into what has always been a system of raising and preparing as much food as possible at home. Good health is favored by cleanliness, good food, abstemious and self denying habits and common sense care. Farmers in particular, can easily even in these times, live on the fat of the land, if they take full advantage of their opportunities. It may be of interest to discuss these matters in some detail and catalogue them as follows:

1. Whole wheat flour is more nourishing and healthful than the processed white flour of commerce but does not keep so long in storage and should be ground at home or at a local mill, such as we have at Glendon. The same remarks apply to cracked wheat prepared at home for breakfast food. Most farmers have a food grinder that can be used. Also there is a loss in selling good wheat at a cent a bushel and buying it back at store prices.

2. Corn meal can also be ground from the flint corn or squaw corn that matures here. It is better with a small hand grinder and the corn bread or scones made from the meal gives just right.

3. Sweet corn or corn in the milk can be cut from the cobs and dried in the sun or over the fire in a screened wire box. The dried corn will keep indefinitely and is delicious when cooked.

4. Ham and bacon can be cured in a smoke house that is a hard heat. Cut and trim and place in a barrel, covering each with coarse salt and a little brown sugar. Fill in with water and leave for ten days in the weather. Then take out and hang in the smoke house for eight or ten days. The smoke house should be high and have an earthen floor with a hole in the centre for the fire. Down south they use green hardwood, but green willow bark and cherry bark from the river would likely do very well. The so called liquid smoke can be used but, although much easier, is not in my opinion as good. Again the home cured product will not stand shipment, as well as the commercial article filled with salt and salt petre, but is very good to eat.

5. Sausage is made by grinding the lean meat and fat together and seasoning with salt, black pepper, and pepper and sage, being able to mix well. Then pack in muslin bags and hang in the smoke house for about 10 days.

6. Dried beef used to be sliced and sold over the counter but is now usually sold in tin cans. To prepare dried beef, take out all bones and cut in chunks of from five to ten pounds, dip for about three minutes in boiling or bring with black pepper in it. Then run a cord through the small end and hang in the smoke house to cure for 10 days or more.

7. Corned beef is prepared by dissolving, for 100 pounds of beef, ten pounds salt, four pounds brown sugar and two ounces of salt petre in about four gallons of water. Then boil and skim and cool the brine. Pack the meat and weight it down in suitable racks or jars and cover with the brine and keep in a cool place. After two months, or when necessary, scald the brine, add a little fresh salt, skim, cool and cover the meat again.

8. The dairy products, usually available, are milk, cream, butter, buttermilk, junket and cottage cheese, but in addition to these, a good home made cream cheese can be made in the farm house. It is better to buy small press and cutter, etc., although the equipment can be improvised, except for a thermometer, which is rather necessary. The details of the process can be had from a Government Bulletin, as it would take too much space to outline them here. Devonshire clothed cream is in the luxury class but my how good to eat. Set fresh milk in wide pans and let the cream rise and reach the heathy stage, then set on the stove and scald until the cream cracks. Remove and cool, then skim the clot and cream.

9. Poultry products are naturally one of the chief home product resources on the farm and sometimes in town. Poultry, more or less, sold themselves in readiness for the pot. When required, but the meat can be cold packed and processed in sealers for future use. Eggs can be put down in salt, water glass or lime water.

The most important matters in keeping eggs, meat, dairy products, fruit and vegetables is to have them free from bruises, clean and cooled right away after being laid, prepared or picked and kept at the proper low temperature or as near it as possible. There are many other things, such as dry salt sides, head cheese, etc. that can be prepared. These remarks have been gathered from far and wide, from Texas to Strathmore, and it is hoped will be of interest. Gardens and garden truck will be taken up in a later article.

Wheat Stocks in Store
The available supply of Canadian wheat in store for week ending Sept. 14, was 216,863,948 bushels compared with 202,677,133 (revised figure) for the week previous, an increase of 14,186,815 bushels. At the same date in 1933 the figure was 212,256,419 bushels. Canadian wheat in store in United States elevators amounted to 11,759,502 bushels compared with 4,461,482 bushels same date last year. The United States wheat in Canada was 657,136 bushels compared with 3,029,956 same date preceding year.

Estimated Value of 1934 Wheat Crop
The 265 million bushels of Canadian production of the prairie provinces is expected to bring a total of $176,255,000 based on prices paid at country points the first six weeks of the current season, according to calculations of the Sanford-Brown Statistical Service. This is about $5,000,000 more than last year's crop brought.

International Wheat Authority Announces
George Brownell, the Liverpool grain statistician, suggests that poor crops in North America next year might bring a shortage of wheat in the northwest. His authorities do not think the Russian wheat crop will be greater than 880 million bushels this year. The Budget

CANADIAN WHEAT INSTITUTE
Proposals for forming the Canadian Wheat Institute as a national body to conduct work in the interests of Canadian wheat were endorsed by the annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce which met in Winnipeg on September 11, 12 and 13. This followed an address by Mr. H. S. Law, president of United Grain Growers Ltd., in the course of which he dealt with the need for putting a new force behind the sale of Canadian wheat and showed how through the proposed Institute, advertising, commercial research, scientific research and other efforts might be brought to bear towards the enlargement of our wheat in Canada.

To resolution which was subsequently passed by the convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and as follows:

Realizing the importance of Canadian wheat production to the prosperity of Canada, the chamber has been gratified to learn that those directly interested in the production and marketing of Canadian wheat have under consideration the organization of a Canadian Wheat Institute as a national body to stimulate the marketing and use of wheat in the markets of the world. The chamber extends its closest cooperation in this endeavor.

The Alberta Cabinet Ministers are coming under very severe criticism for their extravagant use of the people's money in connection with their somewhat lavish expenditure for automobiles. Everyone envisions the luxury of a car, but when they are bought and operated at the public expense, the picture presents another color. When the cars are used in Govt. business only, their cost may be indicated, but when it is largely for the general social and pleasure jaunts of the Ministers and their families then in times like these the people have a right to demand a change in procedure. After this Govt. might well take a lesson from the federal and Ontario Govts in this respect.

ST. MICHAEL'S HARVEST HOME
The Rev. Neville Hunt held a large congregation at Sunday Evening song with a discourse, on the blessings accruing to those who keep the Commandments of God compared with the fate of the Dives who tried to persuade himself that he had acquired his greatness by his own efforts. The hymns were Elvey's S. George for Come Ye Thankful People, Sullivan's Bishoprics for To Thee, O Lord Our Hearts we Raise, Byes St. Anatholus for The Day is Past and Over, St. Michael's Patron Saint was remembered in Angels of Justice, sung to St. Michael's Pilgrims. The augmented choir rendered Neville's setting for O Lord of the Lord, with great effect, accompanied by Miss Florence Garrett. Miss Violet Hyde accompanied the remainder of the service including the Psalm set for Harvest Thanksgiving.

The Rector of Inland had already celebrated the Holy Mysteries at 11 a.m. for a similar congregation with Miss Maere Seales at the organ, the church may perhaps have been quieter, but it was a lovely service.

THE NEW PRIMATE

The selection of Bishop Owen of Toronto for the position of Primate of the Church of England in Canada is received with warm approval by all who know Archbishop Owens high qualifications for the post. Coupled with high academic qualities he brings to his new responsibilities a practical knowledge not only of the city churches but he has personally visited almost every rural parish throughout Canada and is therefore well acquainted with the problems and difficulties with which they have to contend.

The elevation of a comparatively young and forward looking man of this type to the highest position in the church is a sign of renewed faith and vitality in the whole body.

CIVILIZATION OR WAR

It is being said that the world is drifting, hopelessly drifting on to war, that nothing can avert it unless, the nations and peoples rise above their national prejudice profligates, and last for power.

The world is still staggering under the effect of the lost generation, the maimed and broken lives, and the colossal cost of the holocaust of 1914-1918.

We were told repeatedly, and now it seems like a mere platitude, that that was a War to end War.

Historians talk of the "dark ages," but if civilization's progress and humanitarian ideals are not sufficient to bring influence to bear on the powers that be, after the experience, suffering and heart breaks of the last war to prevent a repetition of the horrors and slaughter, intensified a hundred fold by more deadly gases, and other death dealing devices, then we say the dark ages would seem as pinpoints of light, compared with our boasted 20th century civilization which would permit a repetition of such diabolical destruction of life, and everything held dear by mankind.

We are convinced that were there no munition profiteers, no big business reaping fortunes at the cost of the life blood of their fellow men, no Krupp, no Vickers-Maxim, no Schrodgers, no Crusos, no Bethlehem

Steel Works, no individuals so brutally callous as to be not only willing but scheming to make profit out of human suffering, there would be no war.

We hope we are not living in "a fool's paradise" when we feel that it is still possible for the hundreds of thousands of Anti-war people to organize and declare that they will not take up arms to gratify the thirst for power or petty nationalism of some European tyrant, to go to prison if need be, but not to war.

Where there were some in the years 1914-18 who encouraged young men to put on the King's Uniform and some even tainted with the white feather, now we know of many, very many who would use every influence in the opposite direction. The following extracts taken from an article, The Traffic in Arms, from the Witness of Sept 19th will find response in many hearts.

Recent indications have shown that the British Government is not indifferent to Canadian opinion. Many in Canada who have tried to keep themselves informed about the great issues affecting World Peace do not feel that British Foreign Policy in recent months has contributed much towards the realization of that great desideratum.

Another issue upon which progressive opinion is almost unanimously at variance with that of the British Government is the private traffic in Armaments. (This matter is under the purview of the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs). There is no need to labor this. It has been voted by every section of Canadian opinion. Canada condemns the private traffic in armaments. Great Britain, as the recent statement of Sir Herbert Lawrence, Chairman of Vickers, Ltd. clearly indicates, not only permits but definitely authorizes it. Lieut. Col. George A. Drew has laid his in the July last issue of Marlene's Magazine the perceptive and astounding character of this wholly unscrupulous business. Ammunition and other armaments have been shipped to South American countries, with the complete sanction and approval of the British Government. An appeal in the House of Commons, that a commission of enquiry into the Private Arms business, be appointed, was rejected by the Government. The Prime Minister closed the discussion with the illuminating remark: "The question could not be dealt with by one country alone. Apparently, Britain cannot do anything until there is a convention amongst all the nations to do the same thing. At one time in our childhood, innocence and patriotic ignorance, we sang lustily, Britons never shall be slaves, now we see, that we are the passive instruments of the international warmongers."

Has it never occurred to the suave diplomats of the Foreign Office that a bold, uncompromising policy of peace and goodwill would rally World opinion to the support of British as nothing else would do. Canada is humiliated by the fact that British Munition firms are advertising their deadly wares in German newspapers, and have been shipping their diabolical products into Bolivia and Paraguay—are frantically competing with France and the United States for the Oriental trade, to enable the Chinese and Japanese peoples to cultivate the Christian nations, in becoming professed in the art of slaughter. Canada's well being is affected by these things. Strife, fomented in the Orient by the Merchants of Death, limits the possibility of fruitful trade relations in that sphere. As a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations she has a right to protest, and to demand that British Foreign Policy consider the wide interests of every British nation and not alone the selfish interests of British Armament concerns.

But, of course, it must readily be conceded that the British Government is not deliberately concerned about the interests of Munitions Manufacturers to the exclusion of great human interests. Quite sincerely most of the members of the Cabinet look upon the whole wretched armament business as evil—a necessary evil, perhaps, but no less evil. The men who are responsible for the policies here criticized are earnestly desirous of averting war. They dread the possibility of another world conflict. Sir John Simon is "his honorable man—so are they all." Macdonald, Baldwin, Eden, Thomas—"all honorable men," they cannot think of the heavy responsibilities which have been placed upon them without realizing the agony of concern through which they must have passed.

Canada, with her varied nationalities and a broad uniform program of education can do much to promote goodwill amongst the nations. We must educate for peace, and a saving internationalism, with the same enthusiasm as Fascism seems to educate for war and a destructive nationalism. Who knows whether Canada may not have been called to nationhood for such a time as this?

THE DOMINION OF CANADA REFUNDING LOAN

The Refunding Loan now being offered to the people of Canada is giving everyone who has money to invest a safe investment, when at the same time an opportunity to perform a service to the Dominion by purchasing these bonds and thus enabling the Dominion to retire the loan falling due November 1st.

The reduction in interest from 5 1/2 to 4 1/2 will save the country 5 million dollars annually which will help materially in many lines. And still further it offers to the people of Canada a safe investment, when so many bonds, stocks, etc have irreparably crashed. If you have money to invest, play safe by buying Bonds in the Refunding Loan of The Dominion of Canada.

CROWFOOT

Smiles n' chuckles—Jolly round, red Mr Sun has consented to show his most welcome face again. Weather permitting, coming and tarrying will be in tail saving very shortly.

We are proud to report that our Sunday school continues to grow. A source of great pleasure last Sunday was the hymn rendered in a most pleasing manner by Hellevi, Greta and Katie Nilsson.

Mrs. Jim Garriott spent a few days with her daughter Mrs. Bert Warrington of Calgary.

Mr. Jack Thompson of Calgary was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Scheer over the week end.

Mrs. Norman Scheer spent a few delightful days with friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harvey and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harvey attended the Thanksgiving service in Strathmore Sunday last.

Mr. Kenneth Norwood spent the week end in Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Scheer and Norma were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Garriott last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. David England were the host and hostess of a jolly surprise party, one evening last week, the occasion being David's birthday. The guests arrived armed with sandwiches and cakes, and proceeded forthwith to enjoy the evening.

Mrs. Clarence Garriott and family have just returned from a most enjoyable vacation at the mountains where the swimmers in the hot pool joyfully catch the snow balls thrown to them by the spectators. Oh! Oh!

Those afraid of the big bad wolf Kenneth Norwood, our local school teacher reports a sweet little animal personally known as the skunk, is thoughtfully preparing to winter in the school basement.
